

List of Sessions at the 1st Nordic Conference on Forest Policy Science

1. Forest Future Studies

Jakob Donner-Amnell	New Rules, new players or a new setting? New factors changing the character of forest related activities in the Nordic countries
Cristián Alarcón Ferrari	Climate Change, Energy Transitions, Property Rights, Forest Biomass and Environmental Communication: problematic interconnections in the Swedish context
Erik Westholm Karin Beland Lindahl	Forests in the Making – Exploring alternative forest futures

2. Forest law

Jouni Kumpulainen	Finnish Forest Authorities interpreting forest law – the case of the Forest Decree of 1917
Marie Appelstrand	The role of soft law as the strengthening of hard law versus the 'hardening' of soft law in global and national forest policy regimes.
Minna Pappila	Legitimacy of the Finnish Forest Act

3. Forest policy in an international perspective

Cristobal Delgado-Matas Timo Pukkala	Forest conflicts between consuetudinary rights and administrative law in forest governance in Southern Africa, who is taking the decisions in the forest plantations in the Angolan Highlands
Folke Bohlin	Using the land, changing demands, changing policies, changing minds?
Ludmilla Ivanova	Forestry Management and Policy in North-West Russia

4. Public Participation in forest policy processes

Elin Ångman	Was this just for show? Discursive Closure and Opening in a Public Participatory Process concerning the logging of a forested area
Simo Sarkki	Scale and deliberation in Finnish forest planning
Irmeli Mustalahti Dominik Taku Tassa	Participatory Forest Management in REDD
Riikka Borg	Dialogical approach as a way to give voice to participants in cooperative networks for forest protection

5. Forest Governance beyond the nation state

Jarmo Kortelainen	Generating transnational forest governance
Sara Holmgren	REDD-plus and multi-level forest policy interactions - the Swedish case
Olli Saastamoinen	Between regimes, governance and non-governance: considering governmentality of the world's forests
Daniela Kleinschmit	Limitations of public deliberation for legitimated global forest governance

6. From policy to practice

Leena A. Leskinen Teppo Hujala Sari Pynnönen	The challenge of multiple goals in forest policy – an assessment of policy practice interface in Finland
Camilla Widmark	General Consideration in Swedish Forest Policy: how it works and what it costs?
Johanna Johansson	Implementing sustainable development through market forces? Forest certification in a Swedish context
Vilis Brukas Ola Sallnäs	Forest management plan – a regulatory policy instrument or a decision support tool?

7. Forest conflicts

David Gritten Blas Mola-Yudego	International media coverage of forest conflicts: a reflection of the conflicts' intensity and magnitude
Heli Saarikoski Kaisa Raitio	From conflict to an agreement: Lessons from the Great Bear Rainforest in British Columbia
Markus Kröger Jan-Erik Nylund	Social conflict around large scale pulpwood plantations in NE Brazil, with special emphasis on Veracel pulp mill
Even Bergseng Vegard Gundersen	Voluntary forest conservation – Approach evaluation from the forest owner perspective

8. Discourse, values and preferences

Ismo Björn	New Forest Owner and local forest culture
Stine Wamberg Broch Niels Strange Kerrie A. Wilson	Should afforestation schemes take spatial differences of goods and landowner preferences into account?
Christian Gamborg	What to do with value pluralism in forest related environmental and nature management policies? The role of environmental ethics
Marjatta Hytönen	Social sustainability of forestry

9. Governance at the local level

Johanna Maier	Governance of wood energy: the case of Kainuu, Finland
Moeko Saito-Jensen Jens Friis Lund	Captured or about to resist? Revisiting the issue of elite capture in CBNRM
Jussi Ylhäisi	The impact of forest policies and legislation on the forest management and environment of local communities: A case study from Tanzania
Gun Lidestav Eva Holmgren Carina Keskitalo	Income Generation, Benefit Use, Local Well-Being and Values in Three Swedish Forest Commons

10. Legitimacy and Rationality in forest policy

Annukka Valkepää	Legitimacy of forest policy – survey on citizens' opinions
Tapio Rantala	Legitimacy of forest sector and nature conservation policies
James Sinclair	Rationality and Forest Utilization

11. Comparative studies on forest policy

Kaisa Raitio Heli Saarikoski	What does it take for successful conflict management? A comparative analysis of two forest conflicts
Berit Lindstad	Influences of international forest policy processes on national forest policies in Finland, Norway and Sweden
Prasetya Prio Utama	Comparison study: Forest Conflict Management between Nordic and Indonesia
Blas Mola-Yudego David Gritten	Geographical dimension of forest conflicts: where to look?

12. Knowledge in forest policy

Taru Peltola	Performing biodiversity: ecological knowledge as part of everyday realities
Harri Siiskonen	The conflict between traditional and formal knowledge in Finnish and Swedish forest management in the twentieth century
Leena A. Leskinen Katja Lähtinen	The role of expert and practical knowledge in sustainable bio-energy production