

Workshops Landscape Days 11-12 October 2023

Wednesday Oct 11

1. Ultuna Walk, Talk & Connect - with PhD-students and other animals

Wednesday 11/10 15.15-16.45

Meeting point: Lunchroom at plan 3 Ulls hus

Description: Walking excursion with Ph.D.-students from SOL, LAPF, IMS. In this 1.5 hour walking excursion you will have the chance to be paired with a(nother) Ph.D.-student and hear about ongoing projects and pioneering research at our institutions from young researchers with a finger on the pulse of emerging landscape perspectives. All while enjoying the scenery of Ultuna, the campus, and the transition from more rural to more urban landscapes as we walk along the river towards Stadsträdgården and the surrounding new developments. During the walk there will be a chance to connect with both Ph.D.-students and other species within the kingdom Animalia and get lost in critical reflexivity or forget all about it when touching a horses' muzzle.

2. Projektledning i LING /Project management in LING

Wednesday 11/10 15.15-16.45

Room: Lönnstorp

Description: Diskussion om kursen rörande projektledning i LING utbildningen:

Innehåll – Vad behöver en LING student lära sig om projektledning? Vad menar vi med projektledning när vi talar om byggprojekt? Vilka förkunskaper behövs för att tillgodogöra sig kunskap om projektledning?

Progression – Vad behöver en LING student lära sig och när behöver det tas upp?

Litteratur – Vi går igenom den litteratur som finns i kurser om projektledning på LING i dag och tittar på ny litteratur som skulle kunna ersätta den.

Discussion about the project management course in the LING education:

Content - What does a LING student need to learn about project management? What do we mean by project management when we talk about projects with in the building industry? What prior knowledge is needed to acquire knowledge about project management for LING students?

Progression – What does a LING student need to learn and when does it need to be addressed?

Literature - We go through the literature available in courses on project management at LING today and look at new literature that could replace it.

3. Reflection on design – what is it for?

Wednesday 11/10 15.15-16.45

Room: Öregrund

Description: Reflection is part of our studio courses and the independent projects, sometimes as a course goal and sometimes as part of what the course team expect as the outcome of a project. Do we primarily ask for reflection for development of metacognitive skills, to examine examples or as a way of integrating theory and practice? How do we do it?

In this workshop we will share our experiences on why we ask for reflection, how we ask and what material we provide to reflect against. We will explore if there is a potential to develop the reflection exercises further to better support both the mindset and skills we aim for.

Language: Swedish/English

4. New European Bauhaus and how can SLU contribute to the initiative

Wednesday 11/10 15.15-16.45

Room: Krusenberg

Description: Information om New European Bauhaus (NEB) och New European Bauhaus Academy (NEB Academy) samt diskussioner om hur vi kan bidra till initiativet och vilken forskning som redan pågår som kan kopplas till NEB och NEB Academy. NEB är ett initiativ som lyfter fram betydelsen av estetiska, sociala och kulturella värden i den hållbara gröna omställningen av samhället.

In the workshop, we will inform about the New European Bauhaus (NEB) and the New European Bauhaus Academy (NEB Academy) as well as organize discussions in small groups about how we can contribute to the initiative and what research is already underway that can be connected to the NEB and NEB Academy. NEB is an initiative that highlights the importance of aesthetic, social and cultural values in the sustainable green transformation of society.
